THEIR DAINTY FARE

"Hello, Parker, said Timmons. "Morning, John," responded Parker. "Old man down yet?"

"Not yet. I hear you've gone to housekeeping?" "Bet you. Nothing like it. When a man has a wife and a home of his own there is nothing more to desire."

"That's right," agreed Timmons. "We've been housekeeping several weeks now and those are our sentiments. House or flat?"

"Flat. That's the only thing. Steam heat and all the rest. You can't beat it."

"Oh, I don't know. We took a house. Thought we'd like a garden, though it hasn't been anything but work so far. My wife started right in and planted bulbs for next spring. I'm going to raise all our vegetables. I'll bring you some. What kind do you like?"

"Cabbage. Some 'House or Flat' thing substantial, anyway. I don't care much for light stuff, though, of course, salads are delicious if made right. My wife is great at it. She can make all the delicate things—like things women usually eat."

"I think all women like rarefied food—something dreamy and ethereal. Mrs. Timmons makes the most delicious nasturtium sandwiches you ever ate."

"They can't touch the violet sandwiches Susie made for our Sunday evening tea. And talk about your salad! We had one last night that beat anything for delicacy."

"I must tell Mrs. Timmons to call on your wife and get the recipes—just the kind she likes. We had a pudding last night that was simply a dream. I think she called it angel fluff—good name, too. It sort of melted in your mouth so you hardly knew you were eating anything—whipped cream and candied rose leaf on top."

"Sounds pretty. I'll tell Sue. She likes to try those things, though I can't say I care for such ethereal dishes myself."

"Nor I. Give me a good old-fashioned pumpkin pie or plum pudding. We used to have 'em at home—fine."

"Thought you liked your mother's cooking better, eh? Cry, did she?"

"How did you know? A little. I sort of guessed it. Say, it must be nearly noon."

"I feel as if—great guns! It's only ten o'clock!"

"I would have bet it was noon. Say, John, if you don't mind, I wish your wife would give those recipes to Susie—just now. I am sort of tired of dream food. Not but that Mrs. Parker is a fine cook—best ever, but—"

"Don't mention it, old man. I am inclined myself to feel that solid food is better to work on—steaks to your ribs. I couldn't eat all the summery we had on the table last night, though up to then I'd managed to get away with everything in sight, just to please her. Last night I didn't have much appetite—had a little lunch just before I went home."

"Don't say a word. I did the same thing myself. I had no idea Sue would take it so hard—"

"Wept, did she? Thought you liked your mother's cooking better, or that you didn't like hers?"

"Something like that. Household affairs reached the boiling point. Did your wife shed tears?"

"Did she? Then she rushed from the room—"

"Mine, too—bound to go home to her mother. So I ate everything I could get my hands on."

"I got rid of some of the stuffy with the help of the grate fire—then I followed her and we made up."

"Say, old man, come out and have some lunch."

"I'll do it if you'll make it boiled beef and cabbage."

"That sounds good to me. Come on."

"Uncle Charlie" Perry 92 Years Young

MR. S. C. PERRY, Age 92.

Mr. Samuel Charles Perry, of Lockport, N. Y., who is 92 years old and a bachelor, retains all his faculties to a remarkable degree. He is as active and vigorous as he was twenty years ago. Recently, when celebrating his 92d birthday, he entertained his friends by playing on the violin, which he has owned for over sixty years, many old-time pieces.

For many years Mr. Perry has been prominent in business and politics.

In his old age he finds Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey indispensable, and the only medicine to which his vigor is due; he says that it has no equal.

Mr. Perry writes: "The vitality and usefulness of my powers, which I have preserved through a long life up to the age of ninety-two, I attribute partly to moderation in all things, partly to an indisposition to worry and partly to my natural abstinence of all kinds of drugs."

"In my extreme old age I am exercising the same discretion, with but the one exception that I find Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey an indispensable medicine. As a tonic and general preserver of health in old age I believe that it has no equal."

Every testimonial is guaranteed genuine and is published in good faith with full consent.

Mr. Perry's case is similar to that of thousands of others, both aged men and women, who have been kept hale, hearty and vigorous by the constant use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a medicine. It is a predigested food which has a stimulating and tonic effect upon the system. It builds nerve tissues, prevents decay and keeps the entire system in a normal, healthy condition.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

If you wish to keep young, strong and vigorous and have on your cheeks the glow of perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, regularly, according to direction. It tones and strengthens the heart action and purifies the entire system. It is recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

CAUTION—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold in sealed bottles only; never in bulk. Price $1.00. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Write Consulting Physician, Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y., for a free illustrated medical booklet and free advice.

The closing exercises at the U. S. Indian industrial school at Albuquerque were held and seventy-five of the boys have left to work in the Colorado beet fields.

Whooping Cough.

This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Delbert McKelg of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by all dealers.

Union county will have two county fairs this year, one at Clayton and the other at Almaden, twenty-five miles from the nearest railroad and with a population of only 500.

Lived 152 Years.

Wm. Parr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Sparlock, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." They're a god-send to weak, sickly, rundown or old people. Try them. 50c at all druggists.

The patrons of the Clayton schools are satisfied to learn that Miss Wood has accepted her old position as assistant principal in the high school there.

Boys will Be Boys and are always getting scratches, cuts, sprains, bruises, bumps, burns, or scalds. Don't neglect such things—they may result serious if you do. Apply Ballard's Snow Liniment according to directions right away and it will relieve the pain and heal the trouble. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Center Block Depot Drug Co.

M. W. Waldron left Elida for Albuquerque, where he goes to take examination as a railway mail clerk.

Kills to Stop the Fiend.

The worst foe for 12 years of John Deye, of Gladwin, Mich., was a running ulcer. He paid doctors over $400.00 without benefit. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve killed the ulcer and cured him. Cures Fever-Sores, Boils, Felons, Eczema, Salt-Rheum. Infallible for Piles, Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Corns. 25c at all druggists.
